

VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

Namibia Nature Foundation (NNF) is hiring an intern under the One Ocean Hub, an international programme of research for sustainable development, working to promote fair and inclusive decision-making for a healthy ocean whereby people and the planet can flourish. The intern will support NNF's Economist's economic study on marine tourism.

Vacancy: Intern

Location: Windhoek

Duration: 6 months (November 2022 – April 2023)

Key Responsibilities:

- Assisting in data collection, cleaning, and analysis.
- Supporting writing of reports and policy briefs.
- Providing administrative support where appropriate.

Person specification:

- Be enrolled in an undergraduate or graduate programme, or have graduated within the past year in economics, natural resources management or a related discipline.
- Good academic performance as demonstrated by recent university/education records.
- Excellent communication, time management and interpersonal skills; flexible and adaptable team player; and resourceful in delivering high quality work.
- Strong command of Microsoft Office applications (Word, Excel, PowerPoint).
- Interest in nature conservation and working in an NGO environment.
- Additional consideration will be given to any professional experience relevant to the role.
- Driver's licence is an advantage.

Interested candidates should submit their CV to usman@nnf.org.na by October 31, 2022. The intern will be provided a monthly stipend. Only those shortlisted will be contacted.